

A map showing the course of Knobby Creek flowing from the south-northwest into the Columbia River. The creek is shown as a blue line winding through a light brown area representing land. The Columbia River is a wide blue area to the east. A horizontal line of latitude is drawn across the map at 46°0'0"N, with a small vertical tick mark indicating the exact location. The word "BENTON" is printed vertically along the right side of the map.
